extensive land on the opposite side of the river, in that charming portion of Iowa Territory, known as the "Half-breed Reservation," and there upon the rolling and fertile prairies, they are rapidly selecting their homes and opening their farms. As the traveller now passes through these natural parks and fields of flowers, which the hand of the Creator seems to have originally planted there for the inspection of his own eye, he beholds their cabins dotted down in most enchanting perspective, either on the borders of the timber, or beside the springs and streams of living water, which are interspersed on every hand.

Nor are they unmindful of their interests abroad, while they are thus accomplishing so much at home. No sect, with equal means, has probably ever suffered and achieved more in so short a space of time. Their elders have not only been commissioned and sent forth to every part of our own country, but they have left their families and friends behind them, and gone to Europe, and even to the Holy Land, to reveal the wonders of the "new and everlasting covenant," and to preach "the dispensation of the fulness of the gospel." They doubt not but that they shall be endowed, when necessary, with power from on high to proclaim to all the nations of the earth, in their own tongues, the wonderful works of God.
